THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over TWO THOUSAND of the Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, etc. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended.

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A new edition of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled 'Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind.

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive GAZETTEER Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in LIVERPOOL and GLASGOW—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Irish Tobacco Trade Journal.

Without exception the above is the most useful Directory of Ireland published. It contains exhaustive classified lists of the manufacturers, traders, merchants, agents, and dealers in upwards of five hundred Irish cities, towns, and villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer section. To merchants in the principal cities of Ireland this Directory should prove invaluable. They are often at a loss for a complete list of the traders in the different towns and villages for the purpose of circularising, etc., but the book under review supplies all these, arranged under the different trade headings. The Directory should be on the table of every up-to-date man who seeks to do any kind of business with traders in the different Irish districts as well as with Liverpool and Glasgow,—January 1906.

Carrickfergus Advertiser.

The present is the nineteenth edition of this well-known Directory, and great care has been exercised in revising the various sections and in bringing all information up to date. The Gazetteer section has been fully revised, and now gives the populations according to the 1901 census. A new Railway Map of Ireland is given, also town plans of Dublin, Belfast, and Cork. The volume is worthy of the great firm by which it is published.—26th January 1906

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Northern Whig

... The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Londonderry Sentinel.

Messrs Macdonald have long published a Scottish Directory and Gazetteer, and the present is the nineteenth annual edition of their Irish work of a similar kind. The volume has evidently been compiled with care. The Gazetteer is likely to be even more useful than the directory portion, seeing that it gives the population and other statistics of almost every village in the country. The Railway Map of Ireland is well executed.—20th January 1906.

Limerick Chronicle.

It is sometimes complained that there is not published a comprehensive directory of Limerick. That complaint may now be hushed, for we have before us a copy of "Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer," which entirely fills the bill as far as Limerick City is concerned; and if the other cities (with which we are not familiar) are as well done as Limerick, Clare, Sligo, and Tipperary (with which we are), the book should be the business man's "vade mecum." ... In a word, it is a Directory that is a Directory, and hotels and places of public resort ought to have it, while all business men will find it very useful not only as an Irish Directory, but a Directory of

Liverpool and Glasgow, a home, colonial, and foreign mercantile guide, and a comprehensive gazetteer. — 23rd December 1905

The Newry Reporter.

We have a word of special praise for "Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer," the nineteenth annual edition of which has just been published. Always a most reliable and carefully arranged compendium of its class, this edition for 1906 has now superadded a number of new sections of an important description. In the Gazetteer section the populations, according to the 1901 census, are given. The officially revised Bank Section gives the names of all the banks and bankers in Ireland, with a list of their branches, sub-offices, and agents. Taken altogether, Messrs Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer is a work of genuine usefulness, and we can heartily recommend it to all who require an aid of the kind.—23rd December 1905

The Armagh Guardian.

There are many directories on the market at present, but most of them are only so in name. That is, one can only find therein the names of those people who pay for the privilege of having those names in print, and in consequence not only many traders in each town are omitted, but entire towns do not appear at all. This is notably the case with big London "directories." "Macdonald's Irish Directory" is not one of these skeleton books. It gives the names of all business men in large towns classified according to the business, and those in small towns in alphabetical order, and is therefore a real directory. We have gone to the trouble of checking several towns, and have found it very correct indeed. A Gazetteer is also given, which, with the accompanying maps, will be found very useful.—29th December 1905.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over TWO THOUSAND of the Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, etc. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended.

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A new edition of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind.

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	LEICESTER	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea
BRIGHTON	Halifax	MANCHESTER and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily Telegraph (London)

Will be found invaluable for commercial reference. . . . . and, judging by the way it continues to grow, a third tome will soon be necessary. It is claimed by the publishers that in the "English Directory" have been collected the names and addresses of more manufacturers, brokers, shippers, agents, and dealers than are to be found in any other work of the same character. As a means of bringing the producer into closer contact with the distributor and consumer, these volumes obviously possess great value.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, Manchester, &c

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY. — This enormous hulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades' Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

BUTCHERS' AND MEAT SALESMEN'S DIRECTORY AND DIARY FOR GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

Published Annually, Price 7s. 6d.

Delivered Free.

IN respectfully calling the attention of the Trade to a new Edition of the above Work, now being prepared, the Publishers beg to tender their best thanks for the liberal patronage accorded to their former issues, and confidently rely upon the continuance of that support.

This Work is the only Directory published to the Trade. All information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified Agents, solely employed on this Publication, and thus brought up to date. It contains a list of Butchers, Pork Butchers, Meat Salesmen, Cattle Salesmen, Poulterers, and Allied Trades of the British Isles; Bye-Laws relating to Abattoirs, Seizures of Meat, &c.; Statistics of Imports of Foreign and Colonial Cattle and Dead Meat; also other useful information appertaining to the Trade. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable book of reference.

PRESS NOTICES.

Scotsman

A large and roomy blank-book, interleaved with blotting paper and supplemented by a carefully edited compendium of addresses and information useful to butchers and dealers in meat.

North British Agriculturist

It is a big-sized volume of some two or three hundred pages, and in addition to ample memoranda space for the year, contains what looks like a full list of the fleshing trade of the kingdom. Beginning with London and its suburbs, it works up through the principal towns to Scotland, and thence to Ireland. The list must have been compiled at an expenditure of much patient industry and resource, and it forms a medium of reference which we should think would be of great value and usefulness to butchers and others interested in the fleshing trade. We can confidently commend it to members of the trade.

Glasgow Herald

Besides a useful interleaved diary, the folio volume contains a directory of tradesmen in every city, town, and village in the three kingdoms, bye-laws relating to abattoirs, seizures of meat, &c., statistics of cattle and dead-meat imports, abstracts of Acts of Parliament referring to the adulteration of foods, and much besides that is likely to be helpful in the conduct of business. The volume is well got up and substantially bound.

Dundee Advertiser

All its information has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date by a staff of qualified agents. It contains a list of butchers, pork butchers, meat salesmen, cattle salesmen, poulterers, and allied trades for every city, town, and village in the United Kingdom.

Northern Whig (Belfast)

It has now reached its third edition, and will be found of great service, as, in addition to a very full directory and a useful diary, it gives bye-laws relating to abattoirs, seizures of meat, &c., statistics of imports of foreign and colonial cattle and dead meat, abstracts from Acts of Parliament relating to adulteration of foods, and a great variety of other legal and general information.

Farmers' Gazette (Dublin)

A portly and substantially-bound volume. Though this is only its third edition, the work has already made itself very popular among the members of the butchering fraternity. This directory, which consists of 200 pages, will prove very useful and reliable for reference to all engaged in the meat trade. Ireland is fully represented in it.
